Published by the
CLASS OF JANUARY, 1943
Bloomfield High School
Bloomfield, New Jersey

Foreword

GONE are our high school days! The panorama of the past alone remains. As Freshmen, we left behind us our childhood and eagerly, timidly stepped forward to meet youth, its problems and struggles. Glorious, inviting seemed the panorama of high school.

Now, in turning from the retrospection of the past, we find the panorama of the future looming before us. Confident, assured are we now in greeting new, more perplexing problems for behind us lie problems solved and knowledge gained. We, entrusted with the affairs of our great nation, will carry on to victory!

Prepared, we leave the paths of our youth and confidently step into the panorama that awaits us.

Dedication

We wish to express our deepest appreciation to Miss C. Eileen Donoghue and Mr. Cabot Kendall, our friends and advisers, who, earnestly and sincerely, have given generously of their time, effort and ability in guiding and befriending us throughout our high school days. Gratefully we acknowledge the friendship they have offered us, and the many services they have rendered so unselfishly in our behalf.

"EVER SINCE EVE"

THE excited flurry of girls in evening dresses, the pained expressions on the faces of boys, pulling at collars suddenly too tight and madly repeating lines to themselves, were characteristic sights backstage in the High School Auditorium on the evenings of March 27 and 28, 1942. The occasion was the Senior Class presentation of "Ever Since Eve", which, despite nervous whispers of "I can't remember a line!" and several near catastrophes with tottering scenery, proved to be a great success.

Susan Blake (Marie D'Agostine), trundling a heavily loaded wheelbarrow across the stage; six burly football players, vaulting furniture and windowsills to reach the much-sought-after Lucybelle Lee (Regina Berry); Betsy Erwin (Jane Gaston), forcibly persuading her harassed brother, Spud (Walter Bleecker), to don the long flannel underwear ordered by his mother. These are but a few of the hilarious scenes which brought shouts of laughter from an appreciative audience. The fatherly attitude displayed by Bill Rawson, as Mr. Clover, when son Johnny (Donald Beers) was perplexed by the wiles of women and the difficulties of editing a school paper, seemed natural to him; and Challis Cockefair, as Mrs. Clover, was a perfect mother.

Who could ever forget the fun we had at rehearsals? The golden (?) voice of Bleecker floated down to us from his recording of "Skylark", and Dave Ward, who played the part of Preston Hughes, the football hero, amused himself by playing "Chopsticks" on the piano. Thus music was not lacking, nor was clowning, ably supplied by Bill Rawson, who emerged from his paternal characterization to keep us all in stitches. Why was it that the scenes between Martha Willard (Poppy Conduis), attractive young teacher of Journalism, and Henry Quinn (Brooks Volland), brilliant school principal, were always favorites with us? Brooks showed just the right degree of awkwardness in his attitude toward Poppy, and her sarcasm made their relationship amusing.

One of our most vivid recollections of the grammar school matinee is the shouts of glee from the audience at the entrance of the substantially-pillowed figure of Officer (Cappy) Simmons (Willard Andrews), the Irish policeman, who, in spite of his apparently stern disposition, was in reality a good-natured soul who had a real affection for Johnny and Spud.

Marie D'Agostine was perfect as Susan Blake, a typical high school girl. Her trouble with the men in her life and with their attitude toward her position on the school paper seemed so real that even we, who knew everything would come out all right, found ourselves sympathizing with her. Don Beers really lived the role of Johnny Clover, the enterprising young school editor. He ate and slept over his lines, mastering them in little more than half the time allowed to the rest of the cast.

March 27—Orchids to Bill Rawson for the superb ad libbing he carried on during a gap which lasted for nearly ten minutes. It is to Bill's credit that even the cast backstage didn't realize what was happening until things were once more running smoothly.

Despite the humor of the plot and the diligence of the cast, "Ever Since Eve" could never have succeeded without the excellent supervision of A. Dixie Crosby, our adviser and coach. The student coaches, Marilyn Sheldon and Walter Robinson, did everything behind scenes from calming nerves to prompting speeches, and very ably, too. John Butts, as technical assistant and property manager, Betty Ritchie as publicity chairman, Marilyn Babbitt and Bob Richards, ticket chairmen, the ever faithful stage crew, and Jean Harrison, Emily Colfax, Mary Noltie, and Marie Spinazzola, head ushers, all contributed to the success of "Ever Since Eve".

• PANORAMA •

"TEMPUS FUGIT"

"United we stand; divided we fall." Our class right from the beginning began to disprove such age-old rules. Even the safety which usually comes with numbers was not to be ours. In spite of our graduation and new exhilarated feeling, part of us were housed in the old Park School building; the others, taking their quarters in the Alma Mater and tagging themselves Freshmen, were lacking the support of the entire class. However, under the leadership of Mr. Cabot Kendall and Jimmy Somers, we plunged into the business of high school mindful of the limitations on the activities of Freshmen, an inexcusable title in the eyes of the upper classmen.

In spite of the humiliation of having the names of several of our members left off the honor roll by mistake, Claire Steiger, Audrey Staub, Russell Schapp, Leon Sobel, Lois Cook, and William Rawson ended the Freshmen year with high scholastic ratings.

"Sophos Moros", wise fools. Again we proved the exception to this old Greek term, for our wise traits definitely surpassed the foolish ones typical of lower classmen. Our scholastic ability was upheld by Jane Gaston, Lois Cook and Frank Flanagan rated in the high honor group of the school. Bob Piefke's sensational debut as halfback in the Weequahic game of 1940 proved that we were by no means one-sided.

Membership in the Junior Latin Club flourished when at last we became eligible to participate in several club activities.

Long before our Senior Play the Thespian talents of several of our classmates became apparent when we presented "The Magic Toga" in the Latin Club.

Success at the end of our Sophomore year was evident.

As we took our stand as upper classmen, we continued with our exceptional ability to disprove adages by showing that "Every road has its turning" did not apply to us as we pushed forward mindful of the past and conscious of the future. . . . Our Junior activities started off with a bang! Popular approval greeted Miss Donoghue as she accepted the responsibility of co-adviser with Mr. Kendall. Their guidance was rewarded when our Barn Dance, November 1, 1941, the first night dance in B. H. S. in ten years, proved a tremendous success.

To mention only one of the innovations inspired in our Junior year was the dance programs, which added to the ever-delightful experience of a successful Junior Prom at the Upper Montclair Women's Club, December 29, 1941.

As the problems of our Senior year pretended to engulf us, we chose Bill Rawson, who proved to be an able leader, as president.

Second in importance only to graduation was our Senior Play, "Ever Since Eve", March 27, 28, 1942, which brought forth the latent talents of Marie D'Agostine and Donald Beers who claimed title roles.

Finally the big moment arrived when Claire Steiger was chosen editor of Panorama, and in spite of all our fears the yearbook was underway, with the able guidance of Miss Irene Brummerstedt and Mr. Fred Cranse.

As proud Seniors educated in the tradition of B. H. S., we refused to give in to the fact that we could not disprove one more adage. And so delving into a pile of old proverbs, we have disproved and will continue to disprove that "Out of sight, out of mind" is not true in our case. Our under classmen experiences are still vivid in our memory as will be our recollections of our four short high school years.

However, even an exceptional class or a world genuine cannot disprove the old Latin proverb, "Tempus Fugit".

Football -- 1942

Fighting to regain a prestige lost these past five years, the Bengal gridsters are looking with hope upon the state crown. The season gained a slow start with a 13-7 win against East Side and with Belleville (the old jinx) a scoreless tie, but since has rapidly gained momentum. An impressive total of 164 points was scored in the five following games. South Side and Thomas Jefferson suffered defeat by the enlivened Tigers, and the three consecutive losses of the 1941 season to Dickinson, Irvington, and Garfield were fully avenged. Dickinson, a strong team favored by many over Bloomfield, succumbed to the Bengals 33-12. A not-too-powerful Garfield team was taken in stride 34-0. Irvington, a hard-fighting team, was conquered 26-0.

Our Senior Class has produced many of the mainstays of the Bengal eleven who are doing meritorious work and will be sorely missed next season. Bob Piefke, captain and hard-running halfback; Bob Lobell, driving back; Joe Friedhof, tough linesman; Al Henderson, rough little end; Dave Ward, fighting tackle; Art Derrick, smashing defensive end; Jack Bartolet, hard-working guard; Bob McCormick and George Haupin, doing good substitute work; all carry the football laurels for our class.

With two games remaining to play, Bloomfield has an excellent chance of remaining among the undefeated teams of the State; her record marred only by one tie. However, the Tiger's bid for the crown will be strongly contested by Columbia and East Orange, two undefeated teams with clear records.

Basketball -- 1942

This season of the quintets was one of surprises, upsets, and disappointments. Faced with one of the toughest schedules in years, Bloomfield lost its opening games while developing the coordination required for a successful team. Using a two team system similar to Weequahic's, the Bengals improved rapidly to become a nemesis to their opponents. Paced by the scoring of Irwin Lichter, they upset Columbia by one point, defeated Weequahic, and suffered two and three point margin losses to Asbury Park and New Brunswick, gaining a statewide renown and ultimately a tournament bid. The surge of power developed in mid-season failed to appear in the tourney games, however; and the Bengals were removed in their second game.

The season of 1943 should see a promising team of experienced players. One of the teams used in the '42 season was composed exclusively of Juniors who saw much action and will represent Bloomfield well in the coming season.

BASEBALL

The baseball squad experienced a mediocre season by placing thirteen in the 1942 State standings. After dropping the first three games, the team under Captain Jack Bailey pulled itself together and won its next two contests. The rest of the season the team played much better ball, and lost only to superior teams. Ed McWhood with his fine pitching and hitting pulled more than one game out of the fire. Bob Lobell of our class twirled in a number of games and gained his letter. Bob Piefke, hard hitting left fielder, was the only other member of our class to win his major award in this sport.

For the coming campaign, Coach Foley will have to find some good pitchers and hitters among the Sophomores and Juniors if the baseball squad is to reach the heights.

TRACK

Last year's track season was the most successful since the sport was inaugurated at Bloomfield High School. Although starting the season with only five returning lettermen, Coach Spencer S. Woolley developed his team into a high scoring outfit which lost only three meets and placed second in two. Captain Ray Lounsbury led his squad to victory in six meets, and the team finished the season with thirteen men gaining major letters, the highest number yet to receive this award.

Jack Wrigley and Art Derrick in the pole vault, high and broad jumps, Al Kucinski in the 440 and 880 yard runs, and Bill Rawson in the high and low hurdles were the members of our class who gained their "B's" in this sport.

With five returning lettermen and a host of promising Sophomores and Juniors, the coming season may prove to be as successful as last season.

Golf -- 1942

Golf, an innovation of the past four years in B. H. S., is becoming increasingly popular with the students. No team as yet has shown the degree of excellence required for a championship because of the newness of the sport. The team of '42 had fine material and improved rapidly under the guidance of their coach, Mr. Bauer, bowing only to strong veteran opposition.

Challis Cockefair and Hector Bontempo, two of our Seniors, gave fine playing performances throughout the season.

A formidable team of experienced players will represent B. H. S. during the 1943 season lacking only the capable instruction of Mr. Arthur Bauer, who is now serving in the Army.

TENNIS

The 1942 tennis team, although losing most of its matches, nevertheless displayed talent which, with coaching and experience gained through play, may prove to be effective against their opposition next year.

From a wealth of candidates Coach Kendall picked Captain Fred O'Hara, Paul Gilbert and Bernard Fay to represent the school against opposing teams. Among their opponents were some of the State's finest teams so that the good playing of our boys was of no avail.

Although Gilbert is the only returning player, Coach Kendall expects to develop good teams for '43 and '44 from the Sophomore and Junior candidates.

SWIMMING

The Bloomfield tankmen faced some of this State's most expert opposition this year with the handicap of losing many valuable lettermen at midterm graduation. Columbia (1941 champions), Asbury Park, and Montclair, all of whom were victorious, illustrate the power of the teams opposing the Bengals. The coaching of Mr. William Christian and the determination of the tankmen gained them four victories as against seven losses, a not too poor season when the bad luck suffered by the Bengal tankmen is considered. George Haupin, Neil Walsh (third and seventh B. H. S. scorers respectively), Bernard McGrath, Roy Schotland, and George Siver, all Seniors, gave commendable performances throughout the year.

FENCING

The 1942 fencing squad coached by Charles Boutsikaris of Panzer gained wide recognition by placing second to Barringer in the State. Captain Ted Purcell, Cy Nucci, and Fred Seufert won almost all of their dual meets and placed high in individual contests. Seufert of our class gained first place in the New Jersey State Novice Meet with Purcell taking second place. Dick Heeren as an alternate also gained his letter by participating in many of the meets.

Only Nucci returns for a full season, but the team hopes to continue successfully with the aid of some promising Sophomores and Juniors.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Before becoming a member of the Senior Gym Team, a girl must first be on the Junior Gym Team. These girls, wearers of the gray gym suits, practice every Tuesday afternoon.

Each girl is taught to live up to gym standards formed to develop personality and character, while exercises on parallel bars and ropes help to build her physically.

SENIOR GYM TEAM

Every Thursday afternoon you can see the Senior Gym Team girls hard at their apparatus work. These girls specialize on parallel bars and rings. It is considered quite an honor to wear the red and gray suits of the Senior Gym Team, and is something worth working for.

The Senior Gym Team provides a major part of the entertainment in the annual gym team exhibition. This exhibition is preceded by a banquet given by the girls in honor of their mothers.

GIRLS' ARCHERY

There it is! Another year gone by and still the archery team upholds its many titles. The Panzer trophy in the showcase is the result of winning the Panzer tournament for three years in succession. The girls already have a hold on the new trophy, since they won the tournament again this year.

The archers have not only gained the 1942 National High School Championship as a team, but have also taken first, second and fourth individual places in the country.

Archery is not just a hit or miss game. It takes plenty of practice. Two days a week are devoted to archery under the very skillful eye and expert coaching of Miss Russell. The team is equipped with the best of equipment, which is provided by the Athletic Association.

Two of our Seniors have been captain and manager of the team. Shirley Renard was captain in 1941, while Wilma Haacke was manager. This year the team is captained by Wilma Haacke.

The Senior archers are Shirley Renard, Wilma Haacke (National High School Champion of 1941), Eleanor Saul (National High School Champion of 1942), Peggy Banks, Claire Steiger, Maryjane Cavanagh, Alice Wyker, Doris Cady and Patty White.

Good luck to next year's team!

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Two years ago our Senior girls were the proud winners of the silver basketballs, which are presented to the championship team each year. Last year they took second place. Once again they are out to try their luck.

The Senior girls are divided into two teams. Shirley Renard, Betty Risley, and Eleanor Saul as forwards with Rita Caruso, Claire Steiger, Doris Cady, and Elfriede Rudloff as guards compose one team. Dorothy Lawrence, Alice Wyker, and Ruth Wood as forwards, with Patty White, Helen Schaffer and Peggy Banks as guards compose the other.

Interclass tournaments provide a lot of good fun and keen competition for all of the girls.

CLASS POEM

Four long years we looked ahead to
When we first entered Bloomfield High,
Frightened, happy, and excited,
Taking ribbings with a sigh;
Finding that all this was
Just a part of the routine,
Going up and down wrong stairways,
Looking for room "515".

These twelve months closed with a cheer,
And thus we ended our Freshman year.

One year gone and now we're Sophomores,
And just as the name implies,
We were in truth so very foolish
Though in our mind we were wise.
We studied, worked and toiled so hard
On English and Geometry,
And Caesar and his Gallic Wars
We completed happily.

Soon glad news came to our ear
That we had passed our Second year.

Sober Juniors now we are,
Slowly rising into fame,
Leading different teams and clubs,
Obtaining for ourselves a name.
Still we studied, still we worked,
Ploughing through a field of days,
Striving onward toward our goal,
Reaching it with hearts ablaze.

Soon we perceived the end was near
As we closed our Junior year.

Seniors now, with saddened hearts
We view the years gone by,
Recollecting happy days
That we spent in Bloomfield High.
Standing now with torch uplifted,
Lighted paths we leave behind,
Where others follow in the places
Which in pride our names we signed.

With a sigh and with a tear,
Thus fades away our Senior year.
RITA CARUSO
